Five hundred bushels of red seed oats for sale. Also baled prairie hay. Two and one-half miles west of Elgin. A. Reich.

There is one thing quite certain, and that is that a little genuine winter now and then is muchly realished by our fuel men.

Our esteemed old friend Robt. Williams, President of the Farmers & Merchants' Bank of Sterling, passed through Elgin Wednesday on his way to Lawton.

Well! just think of it! D. E. McAnaw is having two car loads of oats shipped to Los Angeles, California, where he and his bride are enjoying their honeymoon. This is surely combining long-range business with pleasure.

J. W. Giddens and Marion Lee, of near St Joseph, Missouri, and James Goodwin and wife, of Cement, were all visiting with their old friend Francis M. Gibson, one mile east of Elgin, for several days, central on Sunday. Messrs. Goodwin and Gibson were old school mates.

Married

Rev. W. E. G. Humphries reports the following marriages at which he officiated. The first should have appeared in last week's paper:

Sunday, January 12th, Andrew J. Cox to Miss Sallie May Alexander; both of Sterling.

Sunday, January 19th, Jesse H. Green to Miss Hattie D. Johnson; both of Sterling.

Elgin School Notes

MONTA BENNETT EDITOR

Miss Stella Richardson has been on the sick list; but is with us again.

You are invited to attend our school and see for yourselves how we are getting along.

Our students from the country seem to keep a more regular attendance than those of the town.

School is progressing fine. Although we are having bad weather at present, the attendance is good.

On Friday afternoons, from 2:45 to 4:00 o'clock, a program will be rendered in which the school will participate. These programs will consist of music, songs, recitations and readings. This will not only do good but will be an entertainment to which the students will look forward.

Missives From Mistletoe

Jim Lake says batchelordom has no horrors for him.

Jim Dotson's baby has been quite sick for the past few days.

Mrs. J. F. McCraw has been sick several days, with 'grippe.

Last week was a very busy and profitable one for Dr. Gamble.

S. P. McCraw and family spent Sunday with Tom Sperling and family.

Millard Richardson has moved on his farm. We announce this with much pleasure.

Sunday school still keeps on the move at Mistletoe. Last Sunday saw a good attendance and plenty of life.

Owing to the weather and so much sickness in this community, our Sunday school has had a decrease in attendance.

There seems to be a dirth of religious activity among our fellow citizens here. Let us all "up and to work" for the cause.

There was a misunderstanding concerning the return of Albert Dotson last week. He has not reached home yet; but is expected any time.

A. B. Sperling has been confined to his bed the past week, with appendicitis. Dr. Gamble ordered another week of "shut-in," plenty of soup and quiet.

Woman, she don't need a tutor; be she school marm, or "biscuit shooter." She is the better half of man, and gets the better half of everything she can.

The stork cut "high jinks" last week in this district, and left a fine eleven-pounds girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hooper. We wish the little lady a long and happy life.

SHORTY.

From District Eighteen

Emil Wauresberger visited in Elgin Sunday.

H. Fulbright shipped his hogs from Apache last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hansen visited with Jim Compton Sunday.

Dr. A. A. Coffin and wife, of Apache, visited his parents Sunday.

Mrs. Charley Compton returned home Tuesday from Enid, where she had been visiting.

C. W. Compton and Harry Barrett were transacting business at Lawton Wednesday.

Harry Barrett, one of the old-timers, is here from Ponca City visiting with Charley Compton.

A. H. Floyd has finished pulling cotton bolls, having taken his last load to town Saturday.

Howard and Jake Dunn spent Sunday afternoon in the city of Elgin. Wonder what the attraction is?

Geo. Coffin returned from Lawton Saturday. He has been excused and will not have to serve on the jury this week.

Most of our farmers are busy getting their ground in shape for spring crops. Nearly all oats ground is ready for planting.

John Lotis' brother-in-law, from Okarche, has moved on the farm he purchased of John Ewings some three years ago.

A. E. Conard has leased the two-hundred-and-forty known as "Lorenzo's place," and will probably take possession at once.

If you know of anybody who needs a spring tonic, just have them go to Richards and view the pile of corn there, which Ed. McAnaw has bought up. We think it will help them.

We wish to correct the item of last week wherein we said: "John Lodes was called to Apache," etc. It should have been Okarche. He returned the latter part of last week.

Jim Head lost a valuable dog somewhere in this vicinity. It was a thoroughbred trail hound, and having been just shipped in, it had not yet learned the meaning of that one magic word "home."

Mrs. George Coffin was one of the seventy-five visitors in Lawton Monday evening attending the special school of instruction of the Eastern Star lodge, given by the Grand Matron and Grand Lecturer of the State lodge.

"It is quite a little fresh today," is what the neighbors most all say. Our fingers, nose and toes are chilled; but a warm wave is the next thing billed. So move around and keep things going, the men the chores and the women sewing.

CAESAR.
